[NUMBER 337A]

337A LOWESTOFT BOWL WITH QUEEN ANNE DECORATION

18TH CENTURY

Circular deep bowl, on short foot. Outer bowl with continuous panorama of Scotland, displaying early Castle Moat and quaint figures in the dress of the period. The whole decoration in black on fine ivory paste.

Diameter, 11½ inches

[SEE ILLUSTRATION]

[NUMBER 337B]

337B RARE MARINE LOWESTOFT BOWL

18TH CENTURY

Circular deep bowl with short foot. The outer surface with large medallion of a Man-of-War in colors. The ship is depicted in full sail, and the medallion repeated on reverse. Diameter, 9 inches

In perfect condition and fine coloring of rose, crimson and green on soft ivory ground.

[SEE ILLUSTRATION]

[NUMBER 337C]

337C EXCEEDINGLY RARE MARINE LOWESTOFT BOWL

18TH CENTURY

The outer bowl with Man-of-War decoration and "The Sailor's Farewell". Reverse shows the sailor returning as a Naval Officer, clothed in silk cut coat and shorts. He is dropping gold doubloons into the lap of his sweetheart and is assuming a very self-satisfied attitude of prosperity, while his lassie is overjoyed at her hero's success.

Diameter, 10 inches

[SEE ILLUSTRATION]

[NUMBER 337D]

337D IMPORTANT ANGLO-AMERICAN MARINE LOWESTOFT BOWL

18TH CENTURY

Circular deep bowl, with short foot. Brilliantly decorated, depicting the dismasted English Man-of-War "Countess of Scarborough". Outer bowl with three medallions, inner bowl the same subject.

Diameter, 10½ inches

The English Man-of-War "Countess of Scarborough" was engaged with H.M.S. "Serapis" against the combined American and French ships under command of John Paul Jones. The "Scarborough" was the first ship which Paul Jones in the "Bon Homme Richard" dismasted and put out of the fight.

AN EXCEEDINGLY RARE Lowestoft bowl.

[NUMBER 337E]

- 337E EXCEEDINGLY RARE LOWESTOFT BOWL 18TH CENTURY
Circular deep bowl with short foot. Handsomely decorated in brilliant coloring with two large medallions: "The Judgment of Paris", and "Paris Seated, Awarding Judgment." Diameter, 10½ inches
Finely executed figures in the best manner of the English 18th century period. Probably UNIQUE.

[SEE ILLUSTRATION]

[NUMBER 337F]

337F RARE FOX HUNTING LOWESTOFT BOWL

18TH CENTURY

Circular deep bowl with short foot. Outer bowl with a continuous decoration: A Fox Hunting Scene, in the Alken manner. This subject differs from the much distorted Chinese design of the same scene. The individual faces of the huntsmen, the horses, dogs and fox are purely in the Alken manner and finely executed. Centre medallion of mounted huntsman.

Diameter, 11 inches

Rarely is a Lowestoft bowl found with fox hunting subjects.

TEA SET

18TH CENTURY

Consisting of covered teapot, creamer and caddy, eleven tea cups, six large cups, six coffee cups, fifteen saucers, one plate, two bowls and two trays. Front with large coat-of-arms of the City of Amsterdam in brilliant crimson and gilt. Reverse, some of the pieces display large Men-of-War, others, Chinese cargo ships. All of the decorations in very brilliant colors and artistically delineated. (46 pieces)

This service was decorated for the City Council of Amsterdam in 1760 and brought from China as a gift of The Dutch East India Company. The service was unearthed in New York City some fifty years ago, and the supposition is that the retiring Mayor of Amsterdam emigrated to America, bringing the service with him.

3371 THE GAVIN MARINE ARMORIAL WORCESTER DINNER
SERVICE

CIRCA 1775

Consisting of twenty-eight dinner plates, ten soup plates, four coffee and two tea cups, six saucers, six small platters, one large platter, six scalloped serving dishes, two small bowls, two deep plates, five shaped relish dishes and covered tureen (mended).

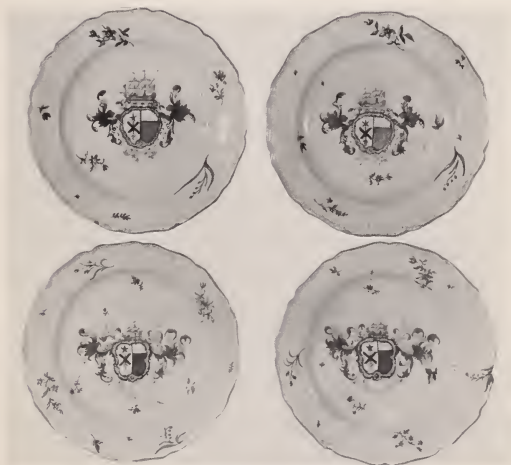

Central Gavin Coat-of-Arms; Gavin Impaling Maitland. Scrolled leaf, flanking central shield and surmounted by Man-of-War in full sail. Decorated in colors with mauve sprigs of flowers at lip. Some of the pieces have the rare Worcester mark at base. (73 pieces)

This service was made in 1775 for David Gavin of Langton House, Berwick, who married Elizabeth, daughter of James, 7th Earl of Lauderdale. A complete history and genealogy of the family accompany the service. This is a UNIQUE service in fine state of preservation, with an indisputable pedigree. The similarity of the paste and glaze to the Lowestoft pottery of the period would indicate that this service was made at the time when the rivalry between these two towns was keenest.
